PLANNING BOARD

It has been another busy year for the Planning Board. Subdivision activity has been relatively high with several medium size subdivisions approved during the year. At least one additional subdivision proposal is before the Board at this time.

Besides subdivision review, the Board spent the spring months revising our subdivision regulations to bring them into compliance with new State laws.

The capital improvements plan, for which money was appropriated last year as part of the temporary growth control moratorium, was recently completed. It represents the combined efforts of the planning board, selectmen and all department heads. It contains a list of possible capital expenditures that Landaff might be faced with in the next 5 or 6 years and how these improvements might be funded. Copies of the plan are available for viewing.

The Board meets every second Monday of the month at the town hall and all meetings are open to the public.

CHAPTER ONE PROGRAM

Our Chapter One Program experienced another successful year during 1988. The Landaff Blue School has Ms. Donna Munkittrick providing supplemental help to Chapter One students in reading twice weekly. The Chapter One Program, federally funded, provides those qualifying students with the opportunity to receive small group assistance in academic areas of individual need.

A major project, which always proves to be successful, is the Annual Book Fair that was held in December, jointly with the Lisbon School and Chapter One. The proceeds resulted in the addition of reference books for the Landaff School.

A special Chapter One Young Author Conference was sponsored by and for all S.A.U. Chapter One students in the Spring of 1988. All students in the Chapter One Program had an opportunity to come together at the Bethlehem Elementary School, along with other S.A.U. Chapter One students. They met and shared their experiences as authors. A highlight of the day was the opportunity to hear and talk with Gail Gibbons, children's author from Vermont.

Odds Bodkin, Musical Talesman, provided an evening of entertainment to students and their families in December. The purpose of the evening was to share with the parents and friends of the community the services that are available to those qualifying students. The display of student work and activities was representative of program projects and learning experiences.

Inquiries and visits to the Landaff Chapter One Program, as well as the Lisbon Chapter One Program, are always welcome.

Respectfully submitted,

Jeanette Mann Streeter
Project Manager

SCHOOL NURSE REPORT

This year, Dr. John Spicer will be our school physician. Therefore, fourth graders were transported to his office in Lisbon for their physicals. A complete physical including a urinalysis was performed. The parents of those students have been notified of the results of the physical examination.

All of the other students also had their height, weight, vision and hearing recorded. The parents of any student needing further evaluation have been notified.

The school also participated in the State Fluoride Rinse Program. The students brushed daily and used fluoride weekly.

The students participated in the Great American Smokeout in November and the Cancer Society sent materials for them to use in their program. I also showed them a video about the hazards of "smokeless tobacco."

We had another discussion about Safety and enjoyed another video about home safety and safety away from home.

The students participated in Poison Prevention Week and the poster winners went to Littleton Hospital for lunch.

Several preschoolers attended the preschool vision and hearing clinic in Lisbon this October. Any students found to need further evaluation have been referred to their physicians.

I would like to thank "Mr. Paul" and his assistant, Mrs. Rowley, for their cooperation. We managed to get everything done early this year.

I want to thank everyone for their assistance over the past four years. I will miss all of you. Best wishes for continued success.

Dorothy N. Diehl, R.N.
School Nurse

SUPERINTENDENT'S REPORT

During 1988, White Mountains School Administrative Unit #35 has continued to move forward with many new programs and innovative educational practices. I continue to be pleased with the tremendous quality of instructional programs and services provided our youth. Our school districts in SAU #35 of Bethlehem, Lafayette Regional, Profile, Lisbon, Landaff and Littleton are very fortunate to have so many dedicated teachers, administrators, and board members working to provide our communities with educational excellence and positive growth and development.

In July, Mrs. Celia Teare joined our SAU #35 staff as Exceptional Child Services Coordinator. She has worked diligently to facilitate districts' efforts with gifted and talented programming, ESL (English as a Second Language) development, and special education training and compliance. She has brought a wealth of experience to the central office with her twenty-five years as a professional educator and administrator. She has coordinated efforts such as our gifted and talented graduate level course taught in the SAU this fall through Plymouth State College and the School for Lifelong Learning. In addition, much time and energy has been directed toward a SAU plan for assessment and programming of limited English speaking students entering our school districts. Under federal guidelines, appropriate plans must be in place by 1990. Our SAU should have a completed plan and implementation procedure available by May of 1989. It is important to communicate to our public that we now serve students representing seven different cultures and languages attending our schools. We will continue to make every effort to provide them equal accessibility and opportunity as directed by federal statutes.

Our SAU #35 Project SAP (Student Assistance Program) continues to move forward and address needs in our schools to combat alcohol and substance abuse. We received a tremendous boost when we were awarded an additional grant of $9,660 from the Governor's Council on Substance Abuse. Our new facilitator/coordinator, Diana Warren, is working in all of our schools to provide direct services to referred students, as well as those students identified as "At Risk." Through our Advisory Council, representation is provided for all schools, community agencies, police and interested community citizens. We are proud of our efforts as we continue to meet the challenges faced by our students in society with drugs and alcohol. We are providing educational assistance with students and staff in a preventative approach to this problem.

Our SAU #35 administrators have been receiving further leadership training through our $5,000 Project TAME (Training Administrators for Management Effectiveness) grant received through the New Hampshire Governor's Initiatives fund. Concentrations for our administrators have been in the areas of improving clinical supervision techniques in staff observation and evaluation; time management skills; effective communications and special education regulations and compliance. Further efforts will continue during 1989 to focus on aspects of professional growth for our principals and supervisory staff.

Fall California Achievement Test results for grades 4, 8, and 10 have shown significant progress in our districts, as well as competitive rankings with state averages and national percentiles. Our schools are making outstanding efforts to address instructional needs in the areas of language and mathematics. It is a tribute to our teachers and principals that so much hard work is benefiting their districts toward steadily improving the performance of our students in standardized testing. Our goal remains to educate youngsters in the learning process and to motivate them to use problem solving skills in their everyday study.

During 1988, two of our educators in SAU #35 received outstanding recognition for their educational accomplishments. Richard Smiles, Principal of Lafayette Regional, was nominated by the superintendent as New Hampshire Elementary Principal of the Year. He was subsequently selected as one of four finalists and received personal recognition for his efforts, as well as for this SAU. Mike Miscio, currently a mathematics teacher at Profile Jr/Sr High School, was selected as one of three finalists for the 1988 New Hampshire Presidential Award for Excellence in Mathematics Teaching. His representation of this SAU and the Profile District deserves commendation.

These are only two examples of our many fine staff in SAU #35 who have gone beyond the expected routine. Many other teachers have been recognized in our area and at the state level for their contributions through grants, professional committees, and competitive proposals submitted at the district level. We should recognize these individuals for their demonstration of exceptional educational and professional performance.

Each of our districts in SAU #35 has experienced some form of population growth or need for school plant study. Facilities Needs' Committees have been working diligently in Lisbon, Landaff, Lafayette Regional, and Bethlehem. In addition, the school boards of Profile, Bethlehem, and Lafayette Regional have met monthly since the fall of 1988 to address needs and concerns mutually affecting their communities. Littleton has reviewed their growth patterns and is actively communicating with the planning board, as well as initiating their own future plan to address future educational space needs.

Impacts of North Country growth trends are providing real and significant pressures on existing school buildings and programmatic changes. It is imperative that public citizens participate with these study committees to understand the future planning which is necessary to maintain the quality of education in our districts. This problem area does not appear to be diminishing and offers the expectation that an informed public keep abreast of the individual district's concerns.

Our new state minimum standards for elementary schools have a scheduled time line for implementation by the 1990-91 school year. In three districts (Bethlehem, Lafayette Regional and Landaff) efforts were made to provide part-time counseling services for the first time during 1988. This accomplishes the goal of meeting that particular standard ahead of schedule. The benefits for students and parents are already being demonstrated through valuable classroom group counseling services, as well as early intervention with social and emotional concerns.

The minimum standards for a reading specialist, increased library services both for staffing considerations and media collections, and the inclusion of art and music programs have also received attention in our districts. Boards have presently submitted plans and time lines for the projected dates for meeting these standards. A comprehensive health standard has now been adopted by the State School Board, and our districts have reached compliance through appropriate grade level health instruction. I am pleased that we have continued to move forward with our AIDS education and comprehensive planning for assessing students who are considered potential "At Risk" youth or early drop-outs.

Although all of our communities have experienced concerns with the rising costs facing property owners, it is paramount that our citizens not lose sight of the value of investing in our public education system. When budget cuts or reductions occur, inevitably it is our children who suffer the loss of programs, co-curricular activities, instructional materials, or needed professional services. To compete in the year 2000 we must recognize now the value of educating our youth for tomorrow. We need each person's commitment to achieve that end. Our legacy of a solid education for our young people rests with each of us. To quote the words of Robert F. Kennedy: "If we fail to dare, if we do not try, the next generation will harvest the fruit of our indifference; a world we did not want - a world we did not choose - but a world we could have made better, by caring more for the results of our labors. And we shall be left only with the hollow apology of T.S. Eliot: 'That is not what I meant at all. That is not it, at all.'"

Respectfully submitted,

Timothy E. Woodward
Superintendent of Schools

EXCEPTIONAL CHILD SERVICES COORDINATOR'S REPORT

In July of 1988 I joined the administrative team of SAU #35 as the first ever Exceptional Child Services Coordinator. The title fairly describes the responsibilities of the position, that is, to coordinate the services which each of the six districts provides for its exceptional children. So then, who are these "exceptional" children? Some would identify them as the children with handicaps. Others would identify them as children who are able learners, or those with special talents. Yet others would say they are the children for whom English is not their first language. The parents who provide home study programs for their children certainly identify their children as exceptional. As parents and educators we are aware of the differences, or exceptionalities in all children - in their abilities, talents, needs, and interests. And so we began the year in September with a theme of "celebrating diversity." Educators from throughout the SAU attended a convocation which encouraged us to address and accept differences in learning styles and interests - not only in children, but in ourselves.

My initial activities have focused on working with the staffs, parents, and boards of the six unique districts which comprise SAU #35 to identify the needs of, and provide the programs for, a diverse population of learners. Through consolidation, for example, funding has been obtained for districts which, because of their size, would not otherwise be eligible. Small may be beautiful, but it does not allow you to pursue certain grants! In each of the six districts there are different needs, programs, and values. Thus the schools as reflections of the communities have different needs, interests, and values. There are scattered programs addressing the special needs of some of the learners. During the balance of 1988 and beyond we need to set our priorities, identify resources, and continue to develop the systems which will enable every one of the six districts to truly provide a quality education for all of the exceptional children in SAU #35.

While affirming the diversity of the Bethlehem, Lafayette Regional, Landaff, Lisbon, Littleton, and Profile school districts, I encourage you to also consider some common goals for children...to have high self-esteem, to be able to think, to make decisions and set goals, to be self-directed, and to show concern for others. When communities provide programs which enable all of the children to achieve these goals, then they will have met the needs of their exceptional children.

Respectfully submitted,

Celia H. Teare
Exceptional Child Services Coordinator
